OUR HOST

Harry W. Bass Jr.
School of Arts, Humanities, and Technology

Center for Asian Studies

The Harry W. Bass Jr. School of Arts, Humanities, and Technology addresses the needs of a new generation of artists, performers and scholars. Bass students learn skills to craft exceptional work in an environment that encourages fluid movement between traditional disciplines and creative expression. In exciting forms of collaborative and experimental learning at the intersections of arts, humanities, and emerging technologies, Bass students imagine, invent and create, while preparing to succeed and make a difference in a globally connected world.

The Center for Asian Studies was founded in 2019 by The University of Texas at Dallas. Its purpose is to promote knowledge of and engagement with the diverse cultures of Asia and Asian America. The center's mission includes:

- Sponsoring education, research and public outreach programs.
- Serving as a catalyst for collaboration across disciplines, areas of study, academic approaches and modes of creative practice.
- Offering credit and non-credit courses about Asia and in Asian languages.
- Providing a forum for Asian cultures.
Lectures, symposiums and international conferences.
- Facilitating international partnership and exchange.
Language and culture camp for children.

Led by founding director Dr. Dennis Kratz, former dean of the School of Arts and Humanities, the Center for Asian Studies is committed to providing opportunities for the University community to engage in Asian and Asian American cultures.

OUR PERFORMERS

Dallas Huayun Traditional Chinese Music Orchestra

Composed of music professionals and non-professionals, teachers and students, the orchestra features a variety of traditional Chinese instruments. Founded in 2012, the orchestra has performed at venues and events including the Great Land Choral Society's annual concert, the Crow Collection of Asian Art, the Plano Asian American Heritage Festival, and Chinese community events and festivals. It has presented an annual concert at UTD since 2014 and is sponsored by the UTD Center for Asian Studies. The orchestra serves the community and performs at various events for cities, companies, and schools in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

OUR PERFORMERS

UNT Chinese Ensemble

The University of North Texas Chinese Ensemble is the first of its kind established at a Texas university. Led by founding director Dr. 梅予馨 Yuxin Mei, the ensemble performs in the traditional Silk and Bamboo style and has been actively engaged in performances both on campus and throughout the Dallas–Fort Worth area.

As the first and only professional Chinese music performance organization of its kind in the region, the UNT Chinese Ensemble has built strong connections with local communities and has become a featured ensemble at major cultural events, including the Dallas Chinese New Year celebrations (since 2017) and the Mid-Autumn Festival concerts (since 2015). The ensemble has also performed at the Society for Ethnomusicology Southern Plains Conferences (2016, 2020, 2024), the Crow Museum of Asian Art in Dallas, the AT&T Performing Arts Center, and the Denver Chinese New Year Celebration (2018), at the invitation of the Denver Confucius Institute.

In 2021, the ensemble was honored to be invited to perform in the China–U.S. Youth Chinese New Year Online Gala, receiving enthusiastic recognition from audiences in China. As a distinctive ensemble at UNT, it maintains ongoing collaborations and exchanges with institutions including the China Conservatory of Music, the Asian Music and Culture Center at the University of Memphis, the UTD Center for Asian Studies, and the Center for Chinese Music and Culture at Middle Tennessee State University.

Since its founding in 2016, the UNT Chinese Ensemble has presented more than twenty semester concerts, each with a theme such as Chinese folk songs, Cantonese music, Chinese percussion music, romanticism in Chinese music, Chinese festive traditions, and the Chinese zodiac.

Dr. Yuxin Mei, founding director and pipa virtuoso, is an accomplished Chinese music pedagogue. She has tailored repertoire, arrangements, and educational programming specifically for the ensemble, shaping its artistic identity and continued growth.

HOUSTON QingXi DUET

The QingXi Duet features the multi-talented artist couple, Dr. 杨万青 Wanqing Yang and 陆曦 Lucy Yang, who are actively engaged in the global performing arts community.

Dr. Wanqing Yang discovered his passion for music at a young age. Starting with the accordion, bamboo flute, erhu, ruan, and trumpet, he has expanded the range of instruments he plays over the decades to include the hulusi, bawu, ocarina, xiao, guzheng, guqin, morin khuur, and Native American flute. He has also received formal training in vocal music. Driven by a mission to promote Chinese traditional music overseas, he founded the Houston Hulusi and Bawu Society and co-founded the Houston Chinese Traditional Orchestra.

Ms. Lucy Yang has a rich artistic background spanning dance, vocal music, and painting. Since 2004, she has dedicated herself to the rigorous art of Peking opera, delivering acclaimed performances in Tianjin, Nanjing, New Jersey, and Houston. In 2020, she began studying the xiao (a vertical bamboo flute) under several prominent masters, significantly elevating her performance artistry. Beyond her musical pursuits, she leads community dance groups, directing choreography and organizing various public performances.

Embodying artistic harmony and social responsibility, the QingXi Duet regularly participates in major cultural events worldwide and remains deeply committed to utilizing their talents for global philanthropic and charitable causes.

OUR PERFORMERS

Great Land Choral Society

The Great Land Choral Society was established in 1995. In 2001, the chorus inaugurated its annual concert series. The debut performance celebrated Mother's Day. An array of soulful songs earned enthusiastic applause from the community, and the carnations gifted to mothers left a beautiful, lasting memory. In the years that followed, the group consistently introduced new repertoire, presented major suites, and held themed concerts that resonated strongly with local audiences.

Over time, the chorus has diversified its repertoire from Chinese pop music to Western classical masterpieces and traditional Eastern folk music, expanding its audience base while elevating its artistic vision and vocal standards.

Today, the Great Land Choral Society has matured into a non-profit organization which boasts more than 100 members. Hailing from mainland China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, South Korea, and various Southeast Asian regions, these members come from all walks of life but share an unwavering devotion to the art of singing. Throughout years of dedication, many have sought mentorship from renowned vocal masters to achieve continuous artistic growth. For more than 30 years, the members have supported one another with deep camaraderie and unity, creating a warm family dynamic. The chorus also remains highly active in community affairs, consistently dedicating itself to disaster relief fundraising and charitable performances.

Dance

A+ Fusion Dancers

A+ Fusion Dancers is a volunteer group of women founded in 2015, dedicated to celebrating life through the beauty and energy of Chinese dance. They share culture, friendship, and passion, inspiring one another and their audiences with the belief that age is just a number and life is meant to shine.

Led by Dr. Bai, the dancers grow in artistry and confidence while building a vibrant, supportive community. Through movement and expression, they promote wellness, joy, and lifelong vitality—living by their motto: “Healthy, Happy, Young, and Beautiful.”

UTD Chinese Dancing Crew

Founded in 2013 by a group of passionate UTD student dancers, the Chinese Dancing Crew (CDC) is dedicated to creating a welcoming and inclusive environment for anyone who loves or is curious about dance.

Here, you can fully immerse yourself in everything dance-related! Whether your style is hip-hop, Choreo, jazz, K-pop, traditional Chinese dance, Chinese folk dance, ballet, modern, or contemporary dance, you will easily find like-minded friends who share your passion.

To help everyone grow and shine, CDC offers weekly classes throughout the semester, alongside regular extracurricular practice sessions, rehearsals, exciting performances, and competitions.
